How it came into being

1977 WOMEN AND RELIGION RESOLUTION

LUCILE LONGVIEW CONCEIVED OF AND WROTE THE RESOLUTION

WOMEN AND RELIGION RESOLUTION A BUSINESS RESOLUTION

During these early days, Lucile was a great supporter of the UUWF. But she also wanted to see change within the Unitarian Universalist Association. This meant authoring a Business Resolution and presenting it to the General Assembly.

HOW THE RESOLUTION CAME ABOUT

Lucile says: “I conceived of and wrote the resolution and sent it to 15 associates around the continent, soliciting feedback. They encouraged me to proceed, and offered suggestions.

The petition to place the resolution on the agenda of the 1977 General Assembly received more than twice the requisite 250 signatures.

The UU Women's Federation supported the resolution written, revised, and submitted by individual UUs working together.”

CULTURAL ASSUMPTIONS CHALLENGED

Calling on all of us to carefully examine our cultural assumptions, the Resolution highlights those which cause women to be overlooked and undervalued.

FAMILIES AND SEX-ROLE STEREOTYPES

Religious myths, historical materials, and other teachings, which can create sex-role stereotypes that are often perpetuated in our own families limit the sense of self-worth and dignity of each one of us.

SEXIST ASSUMPTIONS AND LANGUAGE

The Resolution calls on all UU institutions to avoid sexist assumptions and language.

It emphasizes the relationship between religious and cultural attitudes toward women.

NEW UNDERSTANDINGS

In a speech Lucile said: “In the Resolution when we said ‘avoid sexist assumptions and sexist language in the future,’ we were reaching for a new and inclusive understanding of reality, a new Genesis, a new Creation Story.”

ROSEMARY MATSON, ACTIVIST AND AUTHOR

“Feminism aims at a radical transformation of society, of politics and of culture.”

AT HER NINETEENTH BIRTHDAY

NOTE IN ROSEMARY MATSON'S FILES

“How do we get across to people that the feminist perspective is one that acknowledges the wholeness of life and the sacredness of all life’s creatures – humans, animals and plants – on an equal basis – what’s so scary about that?”

STARR KING SCHOOL FOR THE MINISTRY

by vote of its Board of Trustees hereby awards to

Rosemary Matson

Activist, humanist, implementer, visionary, transformer ~ her gentle demeanor belies an inner feistiness
She worked hand-in-hand with her husband, Howard, to garner support and acknowledgement of the United Farm Workers, even providing housing for Cesar Chavez at a time when his life was being threatened.

She co-founded Continuing the Peace Dialogue, a grassroots, global network promoting gender equality.

Asker of important questions, advocate, ground breaker and heroine.

She was identified as a "Feminist Who Changed America," and worked to change attitudes that cause women everywhere to be overlooked and under-valued.

An advocate for women in the ministry, and a living exemplar of Unitarian Universalist feminism, she gave women a voice and worked tirelessly to make Unitarian Universalist language more inclusive by urging us to consider:

"We do not want a piece of the pie. It is still a patriarchal pie. We want to change the recipe."

Whether working with Cesar Chavez and the United Farm Workers, the staff of Starr King School, Humanists of America, the United Nations, or the UU Women's Heritage Society she integrates passion and intellect with activism for the common good.

With gratitude, the degree

Women were prime movers and participants in this effort

REVISION OF UU PRINCIPLES AND SOURCES

The 1977 W&R Resolution contributed to the content of our current UUA principles.

“Longview challenges patriarchal orientation.”

UU PRINCIPLE REVISION LED BY WOMEN

GRAILVILLE, OHIO

UUA President Paul Carnes appointed a Continental W&R Committee to implement the Resolution. That committee organized the Women and Religion conference at Grailville in Loveland, Ohio, where Lucile Longview offered the workshop, "The UUA Principles—Do They Affirm Us as Women?"

EAST LANSING, MICHIGAN

The first tentative wording of a new Principles and Purposes document was drawn up at the Women and Religion Convocation on Feminist Theology in East Lansing, Michigan, in 1980, beginning the process that would eventually involve the entire denomination.

TWO IMPORTANT MEETINGS 1979, 1980

COLLABORATIVE PROCESS

This stimulated reframing this important denominational statement. Women suggested the participatory, collaborative approach that was used throughout the churches to draft alternatives.

A FEMINIST WORLDVIEW

Lucile commented on the Seventh Principle:

“Respect for the interdependent web of all existence of which we are a part provides a feminist sense of relationship that need not lead to domination and subordination, but affirms and values the totality of life.”

UNITARIAN UNIVERSALIST PRINCIPLES AND SOURCES

We, the member congregations of the Unitarian Universalist Association, covenant to affirm and promote:

The inherent worth and dignity of every person;

Justice, equity, and compassion in human relations;

Acceptance of one another and encouragement to spiritual growth in our congregations;

A free and responsible search for truth and meaning;

The right of conscience and the use of the democratic process within our congregations and in society at large;

The goal of world community with peace, liberty, and justice for all;

Respect for the interdependent web of all existence of which we are a part.

The living tradition we share draws from many sources:

Direct experience of that transcending mystery and wonder, affirmed in all cultures, which moves us to a renewal of the spirit and an openness to the forces which create and uphold life;

Words and deeds of prophetic women and men which challenge us to confront powers and structures of evil with justice, compassion, and the transforming power of love;

Wisdom from the world's religions which inspires us in our ethical and spiritual life; Jewish and Christian teachings which call us to respond to God's love by loving our neighbors as ourselves;

Humanist teachings which counsel us to heed the guidance of reason and the results of science, and warn us against idolatries of the mind and spirit.

Spiritual teachings of Earth-centered traditions which celebrate the sacred circle of life and instruct us to live in harmony with the rhythms of nature.

Grateful for the religious pluralism which enriches and ennobles our faith, we are inspired to deepen our understanding and expand our vision. As free congregations we enter into this covenant, promising to one another our mutual trust and support.

FEMINIST SPIRITUALITY COURSES

Cakes for the Queen of Heaven* by Shirley Ranck was originally published in 1986 by the UUA. It introduces participants to ancient Goddesses, weaving their stories together with major concerns of women today.

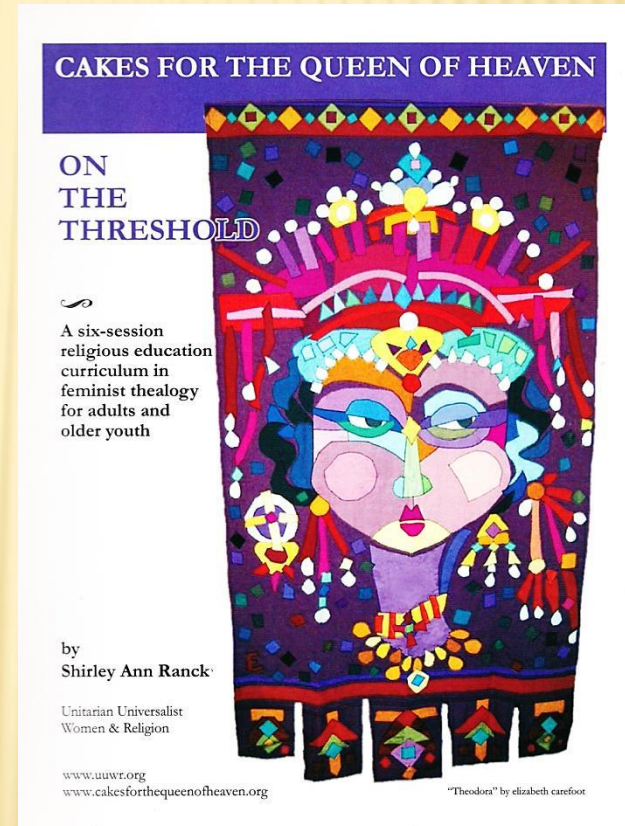

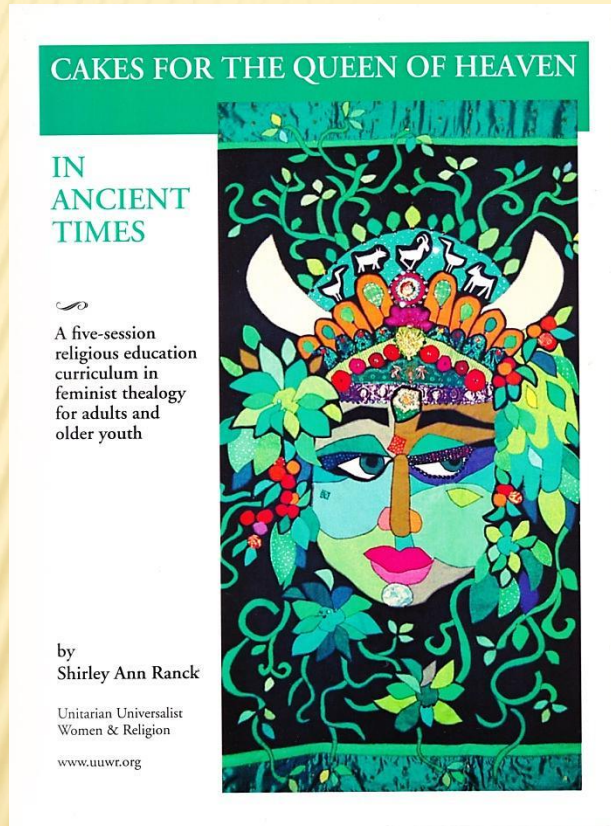

It was revised in 2007. This 2-Part, eleven-session adult religious education curriculum includes:

- ❖ Unique session formats and rich support materials
- ❖ sheet music of songs
- ❖ CD-ROM with Visual Programs to accompany the sessions.

ORIGINAL COVER OF CAKES FOR THE QUEEN OF HEAVEN, 1987

Rise up and Call Her Name was originally published in 1995. Elizabeth Fisher is the author and editor. It was sponsored by the UUWF and was reissued in 2007 with updated components and format.

This rich multicultural course features:

- ❖ Personal Testimonies by women with a cross-section of racial roots.
- ❖ Sacred narratives that honor female images of the divine from a variety of cultures.
- ❖ Activities include: viewing visual images, chants, creative rituals, hands-on art projects.

RISE UP AND CALL HER NAME: A WOMAN-HONORING JOURNEY INTO GLOBAL EARTH-BASED SPIRITUALITIES

Individual Components

- ❖ Leader's Guide with facilitation notes, orientation essays and group leadership guidelines
- ❖ Two-hour DVD of woman-honoring sacred art, both ancient and contemporary, sensitively narrated
- ❖ Music CD of 24 chants, songs, instrumental selections
- ❖ Sourcebook in a PDF searchable file comprised of background material and study resources

REISSUED IN UPDATED FORMATS, 2007

The Japanese Goddess Amaterasu, displayed here behind Shirley and Liz, calls us to come out of our caves and shine our light to enliven the world.

An important practice that sprang from challenging cultural myths has been substituting woman-honoring stories.

Amaterasu is one of the female divine images explored in study and ritual circles in our congregations.

SO MANY INTERESTING WOMEN

The water ritual is one of the most practiced UU ceremonies today. Although most churches and fellowships incorporate a form of this ritual in their gatherings, few credit Lucile and Carolyn McDade and the UU Women's Movement with creating it. It was first presented in 1980 at the Women and Religion Convocation on Feminist Theology, held in East Lansing, Michigan.

SONGS FOR SINGING, COMPILED BY THE PCD WOMEN & RELIGION TASK FORCE

The cover of the book 'SONGS FOR SINGING, COMPILED BY THE PCD WOMEN & RELIGION TASK FORCE' features a yellow background. At the top left is a logo consisting of a circle with a stylized flame or leaf inside. To the right of the logo, the title 'WOMEN AND RELIGION TASK FORCE' is printed, followed by 'A Committee of the Pacific Central District, Unitarian Universalist Association'. Below the title, the subtitle '~ Songs for Singing ~' is written in a cursive font. The main title '346 Come, Sing a Song with Me' is prominently displayed. Below the title is a musical score for the song, with lyrics and chords (D, E7, A, Bm, E, F#m) written below the notes. The lyrics include: '1. Come, sing a song with me, come, sing a song with me, come, dream a dream with me, come, walk in rain with me, come, share a rose with me, come, share a rose with me, me, come, dream a dream with me, that I might know your mind, know your mind, know your mind, when hope is hard to find, and I'll bring a song of love and a rose in the win-ter time.' At the bottom right, there is a small note: 'A NOTE IN WINTER irregular'.
